

May 1996: Monticello Memoirs

James Martin, Internationally known lecturer, writer, and consultant

Gordon Moore, Co-founder of Intel Corporation

Martin Rist, Global Training Partner for PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP

Speaker: James Martin

James Martin, who is internationally known as a writer, lecturer and consultant on the impact of information technology and society. He was named by Computerworld as one of the twenty five "People Who Have Most Influenced the Computer Industry." Mr. Martin discussed "Information Technology and the 21st Century Corporation".

Speaker: Gordon Moore

Gordon Moore, who co-founded Intel Corporation in July 1968, serving as executive vice president until 1975 when he became president and chief executive officer. He held that position until April 1987. He was elected chairman of the Semiconductor Industry Association in December 1988. Dr. Moore discussed "The Innovation Boom in Silicon Valley: Why There? What Next?".

Speaker: Martin Rist

Martin Rist, is in the MCS Global Training Partner from the London Office of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP. Mr. Rist discussed "Beyond the Academical Village - What Do Companies Look For In College Graduates?".